THE DAWN OF WABORI
Collection

KAMI CULTURE

The garments and accessories of KAMI Apparel are the result of over a year of work by a group of enthusiasts of Japanese folklore.

Throughout the process, we experimented with various fabrics, patterns, and designs to create a distinctive collection. The colors, motifs, and type of print represent our vision of Japanese art: vibrant, colorful, and symbolic.

THE COLLECTION

The collection “The Dawn of Wabori” by Sen Kawamura captures the essence of Japanese folklore, blending tradition with contemporary fashion. Each piece is an artistic expression that celebrates Japan’s rich cultural heritage through a fresh and modern approach.

PRODUCTION

Our garments are made from high-quality cotton and silk, following responsible and honest production practices based in Barcelona. Each piece reflects our commitment to presenting a product that meets our highest expectations, combining sustainability and style.

This lookbook is the final result of the beginning of a story.

THE ARTIST

SEN KAWAMURA (Hori Sen)

Sen Kawamura, originally from Yokohama, Japan, moved to Barcelona to bring his traditional and sophisticated designs to life, using both electric machines and tebori (hand-carved tattoo) techniques. He infuses each piece with the depth of his roots in traditional Japanese culture, transforming the shirts into canvases of history and art. His work is distinguished by the precision and elegance of his calligraphy, an area where he has developed his own style, inspired by old house and urban influences.

HANNYA

HANNYA Black & Gold Shirts

THE HANNYA

It represents a woman consumed by jealousy and rage, who transforms into a demon seeking revenge. This design reflects passion and empowerment through the symbolism of Japanese theater.
